

PennState
Abington

Certified Family Recovery Specialist 60-Hour Training

SUPPORT FAMILIES AND FRIENDS AFFECTED BY SUBSTANCE USE DISORDER.

Program Overview

A Certified Family Recovery Specialist (CFRS) is someone who has been directly impacted by another's substance use disorder. The CFRS shares their experiences with others to help provide recovery support services.

Penn State Abington is an Approved Education Provider with the Pennsylvania Certification Board (PCB). This 60-hour training program meets the PCB requirements for credentialing by providing 12 hours of instruction in each of the course topics below:

Ethical Responsibilities, Confidentiality, and Professional Skills

Advocacy and Support

Communication

Family Recovery and Wellness

Crisis and Safety Planning

About the Instructors

All instructors have extensive experience in addiction and recovery, working with both families and those seeking or in recovery:

James Nestor, M.A.S., CEAP, LCADC

Stacey Conway, Ph.D.

Davin P. Rowe, M.S., M.A., CAADC

Dana Cohen, M.A., M.Ed.

Edythe Cohen, LPC, CCDP

Special Guest Speakers

William F. Brennan Jr.

Philadelphia Police Department (retired);
Member, Philadelphia LU#158;
Training Specialist

Renee Cunningham, M.S.S.

Executive Director,
Center in the Park, Philadelphia

MORE INFORMATION

Schedule

September 28-November 16
Saturdays, 9:00 am-3:30 pm and
Wednesdays, October 2, 9, 16, & 23
6:00 pm-9:00 pm

Cost

$875 (includes all program materials)

Location

Penn State Abington

Register Today

Contact Theresa Bloom
215-881-7402 | tmb17@psu.edu
abington.psu.edu/FamilyRecovery